FATE OF A U-BOAT

This Eye-Witness Story Of The Sinking Of A U-Boat Which Attacked A Convoy, Gives A Vivid Picture Of The War at Sea.

BY TAFFRAIL

An escort vessel was in company with a convoy. The weather was hazy, with a strong following wind and a heavy sea, and at daylight three ships of the convoy had lost touch with the others. Soon after ten in the morning there was thick fog, and about an hour later one of the steamers in the convoy a neutral, was torpedoed.

The explosion was seen and heard from the escort vessel, which at once went on to full speed and steered for the position of the submarine. After a few minutes definite contact was obtained with the Aspic, that wonderful instrument which has been referred to as 'impalpable fingers groping beneath the surface of the sea'.

Presently a periscope was sighted dead ahead. It was seen for a moment or two, then dipped, then reappeared and remained in sight for at least 25 seconds, and only 150 yards ahead. One can imagine the suppressed excitement at sighting the periscope right under the bows.

The U-boat seemed to be offering herself up on a plate, and appears to have been incredibly careless. Her captain was so intent upon inspecting the vessel he had torpedoed, that he was apparently unaware of the escort vessels presence.

In less than a minute the escort vessel started to let go her depth charges, which exploded one after another at various depths below the surface. Two large air-bubbles came to the surface, but for the time, no signs of the U-boat. So the hunt continued.

A little later the hunter regained contact with the Aspic and dropped more depth charges. But still no signs of the submarine. Meanwhile other ships in the neighborhood had been informed of what was going on, and just before two o'clock two British destroyers arrived and joined in the hunt. Then a French destroyer appeared.

At half-past two, the weather having cleared a little, the escort vessel suddenly sighted a submarine on the surface at a range of about 2 miles. She opened fire and so did the Frenchman. A big

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF THE MOLLIE PIERCE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

At a recital given by the pupils of the Mollie Pierce School of Music, Miss Arlene Achery and Miss Winifred Tredaway gave an excellent rendition of the "Andante" by "Chaminade".

The recital was held on Monday evening, April 29, in the ballroom of the Palliser Hotel, Calgary.

About eighty pupils took part in the recital and it was very gratifying to note that our Crossfield girls received great applause from the very large audience.

... Just a Friendly Chat

Just what President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King talked about when they met at Warm Springs, Ga., remains a secret but at least a chatty conversation was underway when the photographer snapped the two heads of neighboring nations. President Roosevelt authorized a statement that "no question of American or Canadian policy" was involved in the meeting. Premier King "who is vacationing in the South," and Mr. Roosevelt, "are known each other for 30 years."

LOCALS

Mrs. W. E. Spivey left today for Lacombe, to spend a few days with her son and his family.

Mrs. Nichol, who has been visiting at the coast for the past two months, returned home on Sunday.

Mr. T. Tredaway is confined to his home this week with an attack of 'flu.

Carl Becker and the McBrides have moved into the McRory house with a view to purchasing same.

The painters are busy redecorating the exterior of the Crossfield Garage.

Mr. U. McIntyre and Miss McIntyre have returned from a month's holiday at the coast.

Next Monday, May 6th, is Arbor Day. The Bank will be closed all day but stores and school remain open as usual.

Miss Gough and her primary pupils are working hard in preparing a children's opera to be presented at the school soon.

Wilson Stafford has sold his Calgary residence and will move back to his farm here in a short time.

Mr. Gish and his biology class are experimenting in water culture at the local school, growing flowers and vegetables without soil.

Wm. Linsey upset a load of cattle west of town the beginning of the week, doing about $30 damage to his truck. The cattle were not injured.

Yesterday was the last Wednesday half-holiday for this month, as stores and other places of business will remain open all Wednesday through seeding.

Mrs. E. Fox will go to Bowden on Friday to attend a meeting of the Executive of the Women's Association of the United Church, to arrange for the yearly rally.

LOCALS

A truck from Didsbury stopped at the O.K. Garage to take on a supply of gas on Wednesday afternoon, and in pulling away the driver made a short turn and a long pipe extending from the truck smashed the two gas pumps, spilling about 15 gallons of gas. The damage will run about $65.

Two new pumps of the latest type will be installed this week, and the front of the garage will be renovated just as soon as the pumps are in and the premises levelled off.

The Red Deer Presbytery of the United Church is in session at Didsbury on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, preparing for review of work of the church at Conference which opens on May 22nd in Edmonton. Three ministers had previously asked the Presbytery for a change of pasture at July 1st: S. Pike of Innisfail, R. Clegg of Red Deer East and S. R. Hunt of Crossfield.

Celebrating the 25th anniversary of the founding of the C. G. I. T., the local "Akita" group entertained their mothers and friends at a party last Friday evening. Miss Wilda Laut, their leader, gave an outline of the progress of the C. G. I. T. since its organization.

Provincial authorities are hopeful of obtaining $130,000 for further youth training purposes this year. The grant will, as usual be matched by a like sum from provincial coffers. Although the Dominion launched the scheme on a three year basis last year, the advent of war may cause changes, it is considered possible. Until the estimates are passed at the federal house session opening May 16 the exact appropriations will not be known. But with the growing importance of the various youth projects in all provinces, it is certain that the vocational training spheres will remain unchanged.

LOCALS

Ralph McFadyen, who is with the Canadian forces in England, has sent his mother, Mrs. D. H. McFadyen, the letter received by him and signed by His Majesty, King George VI.

Rev. Stanley R. Hunt is attending the meeting of the Presbytery being held in Didsbury this week. At this morning's session, Mr. Hunt gave a paper on "The Church in time of War".

Mr. Mullen, Provincial Health and Sanitary Inspector, was in town today. After giving the places of business, streets and back alleys a thorough inspection and in some cases recommending improvements he stated he found the town in fairly good condition.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. McFadyen returned last Friday from a month's holiday in Vancouver. Mr. McFadyen went to the Brett hospital in Banff on Saturday, where he will take electrical treatments. Mrs. McFadyen will remain in Crossfield for the present.

Through the courtesy of the Alberta Wheat Pool, the Chronicle has received a copy of their recently published booklet, "The Story of Wheat." Those who desire a copy of this interesting booklet should write the Alberta Wheat Pool, Calgary.

The Church Players of Calgary will give a religious Dramatization in the United Church service the evening of May 12th. They have been in demand in all parts of the province, returning to Edmonton for a second visit. Crossfield is fortunate in being able to have them and those who can attend are assured of a very fine service.

The weather seems to have settled, the last two days being warm with a drying wind which is rapidly drying up the excess moisture. The farmers are busy on the land and seeding will be general next week.

Ladies' Aid Plan Mother's Day Tea

The regular monthly meeting of the United Church Ladies' Aid was held in the church parlor on Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. E. Fox, in the chair, and Mrs. W. R. Emerson conducting the devotional period. Two new members were added to the roll.

It was decided that the casserole dinner which had been planned for last week, and postponed on account of bad roads, would have to be left until the rush of seeding is over. Arrangements were made, however, to hold a Mother's Day Tea and sale of home cooking in the church parlor on Thursday afternoon, May 9th, from 3 to 6. Suggestions regarding the annual fall bazaar came up for discussion and Mrs. C. Fox, Mrs. J. P. Metheral and Mrs. W. R. Emerson were appointed group conveners for bazaar work.

At the close of the business session, lunch was served by Mrs. Metheral.

Hard Time Social Jolly Affair

A merry crowd of young people gathered in the Masonic hall on Tuesday evening for the Hard Time dance sponsored by the Native Sons and Daughters. Novelty dances and a Quiz contest added to the interest, prizes for the best "hard time" costumes being won, by Miss Wilda McTavish and Louis Becker. Miss Betty Fulton and Lloyd Ringham of Didsbury were prize winners in the Waltz, while Miss Dorothy Hesketh and Doug Robinson won the Lemon Dance.

Another of these popular social evenings is being planned for this month, the committee appointed to arrange for same consisting of K. Fitzpatrick, Vera Brown, Tommy Arnott, Doug Robinson and Fred Heywood.

Red Cross To Hold Display Of Work

The local branch of the Red Cross are holding a display of work on Friday afternoon, May 3rd, from 2:30 to 5, in the Committee Rooms in the Fire Hall. The public, the gentlemen as well as the ladies, are cordially invited to visit this display and see what the Red Cross has accomplished during the winter. These articles are to be packed on Friday night and forwarded to Calgary for shipment overseas.

Anyone who has any finished work is asked to kindly hand it in at the Committee rooms on Friday. The committee also has a new supply of yarn and material on hand to give out to any who care to assist in this work.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company have kindly furnished the local Board of Trade with 200 Caraganas and a dozen shrubs to be planted in the little park space near the station. Work has been started on preparing the ground and as soon as it is ready the plants will be put in, and a flower bed planted.

Life, we admit, in the small centres is not as fascinating as in the cities, but we can help ourselves in many ways to add pleasure and real enjoyment if we will join other citizens to boost and build up our community. Every town, village, or hamlet has its attractions for some one that feels they have reached their destination for a business enterprise or a home. These centres are picked out because they are outstanding. They show the visitor at a glance how clean the town is, business places inside and out reflect the desired cleanliness that often has the weight to swing a new customer your way, or bring to the community a new business, which brings to our midst new revenue. Let us join in making Crossfield and district one of those outstanding communities, where every home and business will be dressed in its best for the advancement to better things.

The open ditch on main street no doubt answers the purpose it was intended for, but it certainly is not any beauty spot on the main thoroughfare. This ugly gap should be tiled and closed in and trees planted.

Some of you ardent curlers should get busy and start that new rink proposition going. It may look like a hopeless undertaking but never-the-less other towns have built rinks, and why not Crossfield.

It will soon be spring clean up time. We will watch with interest the progress that will no doubt be made. We notice quite a number of lots disfigured with numerous pieces of junk that could be cleaned up and the property would be greatly improved in appearance.

The Allies war effort is getting too little publicity in North America, according to W. G. Weston, Toronto born member of the British Parliament. He said he was going to tell the British minister of information, Sir John Reith, when he got back. "Why, we are doing wonderfully well and nobody seems to be doing anything about spreading the good news," said Mr. Weston.

Household Hints

Add croquettes to your dinner and you compliment your guests. There are many kinds of croquettes but those calling for ham or eggs are easily prepared by the housewife who appreciates serving an unusual dish made from ingredients already on hand.

Egg Croquettes

2 cups chopped eggs, hard cooked
1 cup thick white sauce
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper
Dash of cayenne
Eggs and crumbs

Eggs should be chopped fine, moistened with sauce as soft as can be handled, and seasoned. Let chill thoroughly on flat dish, well buttered, then divide evenly into portions, allowing two tablespoons for each croquette. Shape into balls, cylinders, cones or any desired shape. Roll in crumbs dip in egg, again in crumbs and fry in deep fat till light brown in color. Drain on soft paper. Serve with a sauce.

Vanilla Coconut Tarts

1 recipe Vanilla Pudding
1-4 cup cream, whipped
1 cup shredded coconut, toasted
6 baked tart shells

Prepare Vanilla Pudding as directed on package. Chill. Fold whipped cream and 3-4 cup coconut into chilled pudding. Fill tart shells and sprinkle with remaining coconut.

Ham Croquettes

2 cups mashed potatoes
1 tablespoon butter
3 egg-yolks
1 cup cooked ham
Cayenne, egg and crumbs

Mix potato, butter, yolks of two eggs and cayenne, beat until smooth then set to cool. Chop the ham, mix the other yolk, set on the stove for a moment then turn out to cool. When thoroughly cool, take a tablespoon of the potato mixture, make a hole in it, put a large teaspoon of the chopped ham inside, close the hole and shape into a ball. Dip in flour, then in egg, roll in crumbs and fry in deep fat.

Home, Sweet Home — Good-bye!

A king can lose his throne, a general his campaign—and suffer not one whit more poignant grief than is the lot of this elderly woman forced to vacate her home in Rango, Finland, when this territory was ceded to Russia. None of the so-called glory of war bravely she packs a few belongings, but when the actual moment comes to close the door on all that has meant happiness in her life—she can restrain her grief no longer.

HOW BRITAIN DEALT WITH THE MAGNETIC MINE

By A Naval Correspondent

Magnetic mines are laid on the sea bottom, and are only effective if ships passing over them are inside the danger area of the explosion. They are useless in depths of 300 feet or more, and are thus complementary to the ordinary moored mines, floating beneath the surface and designed to fire on a ship striking them. The development and laying of magnetic mines forced Britain to provide special methods of clearance over and above the ordinary sweeping of moored mines.

As regards the antidote, much has recently been heard of "de-gaussing" belts fitted to ships of all types from trawlers to battleships, for the purpose of neutralising their magnetism and so rendering them immune from magnetic mines. Dr. Gauss, one believes, was a Scandinavian professor who died in the middle of the 19th century; but gave his name to the unit of magnetic flux, just as the names of Ohm and Ampere are now used in the technical language of electricity.

The "de-gaussing" belt or girdle, or "D G." equipment, as it is now called, consists of a number of strands of ordinary insulated cable passing around the ship about the level of the upper deck, and energized in a special way by an electrical current. It neutralises the permanent magnetism of the vessel, so that she is able to pass over a magnetic mine without deflecting the needle and firing the charge.

Total immunity against mines, magnetic or otherwise, can never be guaranteed. However, no ship fitted with the new gear has yet been damaged, while an officer responsible for its development expressed himself as being prepared to take a "de-gaussing" ship over any number of magnetic mine-fields.

It should be added that the apparatus, which was suggested by the officers of one of His Majesty's Naval Establishments, with the able advice and assistance of civilian scientists, was developed in less than three months from the time the need for it became apparent.

A Prisoners of War Information Bureau has been organized. Enquiries regarding Canadian citizens in Germany or Poland, or Canadians who may be prisoners of war, should be sent to Colonel Hubert Stetthem, Director, Prisoners of War Information Bureau, Department of the Secretary of State, Ottawa. Enquiries about Canadians interned in Belgium or other neutral countries should be addressed to the Department of External Affairs, Ottawa, or the Canadian Legation or British Embassy concerned.

Needed More Time

Uncle Abner had been very much occupied all by himself in a corner of his cabin near the fireplace. He had been working industriously with a stub of a pencil and a piece of paper. Suddenly he looked up, a joyful expression on his wrinkled face.

"Doggone!" he shouted, "if I ain't learned to write."

Uncle Abner's lifemate, Aunt Melissa hurried across the room and looked wonderingly at the scrawled lines on the paper.

"Bless my soul, man, you done have learned to write!" she exclaimed. "What do it say?"

"I don't know," Uncle Abner replied. "I ain't learned to read yet."

"Our Boys Are Superb"

Addressing the annual banquet of the St. George's Society at Toronto last night, Honorary Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., D.F.G., declared, "we need not fear for the laurels of the skies where Canada's sons play a part." He also stated that the German people, as well as Hitler, must be held responsible for the present conflict. RADIO OPINIONS
AND NEWS by John N. Hunt
PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT CPAC

John J. Anthony, mentor of the Original Good Will Hour heard at 7:00 p.m. every Friday over station CPAC, lays claim to being the nation's number one trouble-seeker.

Most people run as fast and as far away from others' troubles as they can. Mr. Anthony, however, not only sticks around to listen to them, but has devoted his whole life to helping them solve their problems.

He was born in New York City on Sept. 1, 1896. His boyhood was much the same as that of any other lad with one important exception; he had a habit of asking questions, trying to find out what made things tick and, more important for his later development, what kept them from ticking! When he had graduated from elementary and high school with honors, Mr. Anthony entered law school. He wasn't studying very long, however, before he was struck by what he has since termed the "glaring inequalities" in our marriage laws. With his customary intellectual curiosity, he began probing into the problem. Asking his usual why, how, when? After extensive research it appeared to him that difficulty could be traced to lack of understanding between married couples, in most cases. Fascinated by the subject, Mr. Anthony determined to devote himself to it. To do this required more than a complete knowledge of divorce law; it required an equally complete understanding of psychology. Mr. Anthony plunged into an exhaustive study of Freud, Jung, Adler and other important authorities on the subject. He backed it up with the practical field-work in the actual causes of marital disturbances. He worked with social and welfare groups in very big cities in the United States. He interviewed hundreds of couples—divorced, about to be divorced or merely thinking of divorce. He went abroad—to Vienna, Berlin, Paris—to study at the very fountain-head of modern psychoanalysis and psychiatry. And his researches led him to one conclusion: that all human problems we see in one way or another, related to the problems arising out of the relationships between the sexes.

Household Hints

Grate raw carrots and use them with prunes in gelatin salads. The salad may be served as a separate course or with roast towel, fish or meat.

Fat for deep fat frying is at the correct temperature when an inch cube of bread dropped into it becomes a golden brown in 60 seconds. This is for cooked mixtures. For uncooked mixtures the bread should brown in 45 seconds.

After cooking carrots until tender put them through the ricer, season and beat as one does mashed potatoes. A few teaspoons of orange juice adds attractive flavor.

flying boat joined with them in the fight and dropped a bomb which fell within 20 feet of its target.

The U-boat, long and low, was hard to see from the ships because of the patchy mist on the surface. Then she disappeared altogether. But steaming on, the escort vessel saw five men struggling in the water so threw a Carley float to them as she passed.

Then she sighted another object which was at first taken to be the sub's conning tower. An attack was about to be made when the mist cleared and the object was seen to be a raft with a number of men clinging to it. There was a thick scum of oil all around it but no submarine. She had sunk and from the number of men on the raft it was obvious she had been abandoned.

The men were rescued, and a destroyer picked up the others from the Carley float. They saved every man of the U-boat's crew except the captain who had either elected to go down with his ship, or had been too late in making his escape.

Describing the attack, the Germans told how one of the first depth charges had caused the stern gland to leak and admit some tens of water. While they were trying to repair it, another charge exploded close alongside with a shattering detonation. This, along with a shortage of air, finally drove the leaking sub to the surface, and surrender.

This is merely one incident out of many which shows the efficacy of the submarine detecting devices now fitted in most British escort vessels and destroyers. But it also gives some idea of the constant watchfulness that is necessary in the vessels escorting Allied convoys, and of the liaison between the Navy and Air Force
